

Dear FCC Commissioners & Staff:

Dear Commissioners'

I understand that you are considering making a change in your regulations which would result in limiting my choices in selecting an ISP. Let me say that if I had wanted to use a telephone company as my provider I could have easily have done so. I chose a local provider instead and have had the service I expected at a most reasonable price. It is my view that a monopaly is not the best way to go. I hope you will give very careful consideration to the possible outcome before making your final decision. The point is, I like what I have and see no advantage in mking a change. Leave it alone.

Sincerely,

Raymond E. Wallace
